

Professor Saman Halgamuge

Prof. Halgamuge is a renown expert in the field of AI, machine learning, optimization and big data analytics. He has received numerous accolades for his contributions to the field, including being listed wihin the top 2% of most cited researchers for AI and Image Processing in the Stanford database.

He currently serves as a Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering of the School of Electrical Mechanical and Infrastructure Engineering at the University of Melbourne (UNIMELB) and is also an honorary professor at Australian National University (ANU), Tong Ji University (China), and Institute Technology Bandung (Indonesia).

Prof. Halgamuge has supervised 50 PhD students and 16 postdocs at University of Melbourne (UNIMELB) and Australian National University (ANU) to completion, with about 20 of these PhD students being graduates of Sri Lankan Universities.

He has held several leadership roles, including Head of School of Engineering at ANU and Associate Dean of the Engineering and IT school at University of Melbourne (UNIMELB).

Join us to hear from this distinguished speaker and gain valuable insights into the exciting field of AI!